IN THE

WILLIAMS' ADDITION,

South of Creighton avenue, the following streets: Harrison, Webster, Taber and Suttenfield, are 60 feet in width and are "parked," as is customary in many other cities east and west. With the regular six feet walk, nine feet more are taken from the street, fifteen feet on each side, for grass plat and trees. This is called "parking" the street. Which still remains amply wide for carriages and wagons. Where streets are thus "parked" fences are usually considered a superflous expense and the roadway is more easily kept rounded up in good condition for driving.

THEY MEAN BUSINESS.

The New Furniture Company Buy Land and Will Erect Large Buildings Immediately.

The syndicate of gentlemen who bought the Bickford furniture company plant, now located on East Waynestreet, to-day purchased two acres of land just east of the old Baker sawmill and north of the Nickel Plate railroad track. Ground will be broken for an immense building to morrow morning. Messrs. Wing & Mahurin, the architects, are at work on plans for the building, to be constructed of conjugated iron, and will have them ready by Monday. The buildings are to be of such dimensions that ten of the patent folding beds can be turned out in one day. The sales of the establishment will be under the charge of Mr. D. N. Foster, of the Foster Furniture company, and the factory will be under the management of Mr. Dan Kehler, whose patent (one of the latest and best) will be used.

The old company had long been hampered for room and this move on the part of the new firm will enable them to so increase their force of men that they can keep up with the orders in this branch of the furniture business, which is growing so rapidly.

By the first of January they expect to be able to move into their new quarters.

BILL CRANCE.

The Murderer of Jonah Carson Escapes From Prison.

Two convicts made their escape from the Northern prison Wednesday by cutting through two floors from the hospital and scaling a twenty-five foot wall. They were Wm. Crance, from Allen county, for life for murder, and Wm. H. Martin, from Tippecanoe, for four years for embezzlement. A reward of $200 is offered for their capture. Crance is fifty one years of age and was sent to the prison north for the murder of Jonah Corson near Sheldon some nine years ago. The convicts are supposed to have headed for Chicago.

Nowadays a frequent and painful disease, rheumatism, can be permanently cured by Salvation Oil. All druggists keep it. Price 25 cents.

Cloaks, Cloaks. Our assortment is very large, the styles are the newest and our prices are the lowest.

MAD FLAMES!

Destroy the Immense Car Works of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad at Ludlow, Ky.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—At 2:30 this morning a fire started in the carpenter shop of the Cincinnnati Southern railway shops at Ludlow, Ky., and spread with great rapidity, owing to the lack of water and the fact that Ludlow has no steam fire department. The immense car and machine shops, covering two acres of ground, were totally destroyed, together with the machinery and a large number of cars and material.

The round house caught fire and it was at first thought to be doomed, but by the heroic efforts of the employes, the engines in it were removed and the building itself saved. Among the losses are: A Mann boudoir car, a pay car and private car, two Pullman cars, three coaches, seven flats loaded with coal and twenty-five new freight cars.

About 500 employes will be thrown out of employment. The buildings destroyed are the car shops, machine shops, blacksmith, boiler and tin shops, brass foundry, repair shop, oil house, lumber shed, sand house, two water tanks, coal bins and the railroad supply store. The latter contained $40,000 worth of goods. All of these buildings were of wood.

Only a street separated the village dwellings and the business houses from the flames, but the wind was favorable and the efforts of cititens with buckets, aided by the little hand engine of the town, kept the fire from burning the whole village. The burned property is said to be fully insured. The loss is variously estimated from $100,000 to $250,000.

The Verdict of Lingg.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The suicide of Louis Lingg, the handsome young anarchist, was investigated by the coroner's jury. Jailer Folz testified that Lingg killed himself with a small bomb, and exhibited a half-dozen twisted and blood-stained pieces of gas pipe which were found in Lingg's cell after the explosion. How Lingg obtained the bomb the jailer could not say. It was supposed he had it concealed in his thick hair. Other jail officials testified to the same effect and the jury found a verdict of "death from shock, hemorrhage and fatty embolism of the lungs, caused by the explosion of a bomb about two inches long and half an inch in diameter and filled with dynamite, said bomb being exploded by his own hand with suicidal intent on Nov. 10, A. D. 1887."

Printers Arrested for a Test Case.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—John L. Bancroft and Seth Van Allen, two striking printers, who, it is said, have been active in inducing "rat" printers to leave the employ of Poole Bros., 308 Dearborn street, were arrested on complaint of that firm, charged with conspiracy, resulting in the injury of their business. The men were placed under $1,000 bonds to appear next Tuesday for trial. It will be made a test case. The law bearing upon this and all similar cases was passed at the last session of the state legislature and has been the topic for denunciation by every trades union in Illinois.

The Anarchists' Organ.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—To-day the Alarm, of which Parsons, the anarchist, was editor, was issued for the first time since the execution. The leading article, written by Dyer D. Lum, the successor of Parsons, says: "The former editor of the Alarm has been strangled to death by the state. The seal of legal disapproval has been placed upon free speech. Henceforth workingmen and women must keep silent or only clamor for relief through the lines laid down for them."

Decided to Quit.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 18.—The Beesemer rail manufacturers, twelve in number, have decided to order a general suspension of work. The time has not been fixed, but it is expected to occur on the 1st of December. The cause is the unsatisfactory condition of the rail market. The suspension will throw an immense number out of employment in the mills of the coke regions.

Mrs. Engle Has an Offer From a Dime Museum Man.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18—Mrs. Engle, widow of one of the anarchists, has received a letter from George Robinson, a dime museum man, offering her $10,000 in cash for the loan of Louis Lingg's remains for one year for the purpose of exhibiting it in the various cities of the United States. The offer was declined.

Struck for Higher Wages.

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 18.—The Southern Pacific yardmen here struck yesterday, for an increase in wages, and the company has declared their places vacant. No attempt was made by the strikers to prevent them from making use of the trains.

An Irish Patriot Dead.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—John J. Breslin, the well-known Irish patriot, died this morning.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

Captain Mills, of Detroit, Kills His Manager's Wife and Then Commits Suicide.

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—Captain A. H. Mills, an old citizen, a prominent vessel man and owner of a line of harbor tugs in this city, shot and killed Mrs. Austin Rising, the wife of his manager, at her residence on Congress street, about 9 o'clock lass night. Mills then went to his home, on Jefferson avenue, locked himself in his room and shot himself through the head, death resulting almost instantly. Captain Mills, who was a widower, is said to have been infatuated with the woman and, becoming involved in financial difficulties, choose the above desparate way of ending his troubles.

LATER.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 18.—The supposed suicide of Captain A. H. Mills, the well-known vessel man, last night, preceeded by his alleged murder of Mrs. Austin Rising, the wife of the manager of the captain's own tug line, has more to it, apparently, than was at first supposed. Rising, the husband of the dead woman, is under arrest and it is by no means a certainty that Captain Mills was not murdered, and that he is besides innocent of the death of Mrs. Rising.

No Temperance Committe for the Bishop

DANVILLE, Va., Nov. 18.—The 105th session of the Methodist conference (south) began here yesterday, Bishop Key, of Georgia, presiding. When a motion was made to appoint a committee on temperance, the bishop said: "No, sir; we do not appoint committees on temperance; we have passed temperance down in my country, and now we call it prohibition." A committee on prohibition was appointed.

Devoured by Wolves.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 18.—It is reported that two children while returning from school near High Prairie, Rice county, last Friday, were attacked by wolves and before assistance could reach them they were devoured. A few days before a man was pursued and attacked by wolves in the same vicinity and it was only after a long fight that he escaped with his life.

Henry George for President.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18.—A Henry George, or United Labor party, was organized here for this state. The Syracuse platform was adopted. No nominations were made, the convention being to effect a working organization only. All the delegates present favor Henry George for president and Judge James G. McGuire, of San Francisco, for vice president.

SEEKS $10,000.

Abraham Weil Sues P. A. Randall for Damaging His Character.

This afternoon Abraham Weil filed a suit to recover $10,000 from Perry A. Randall. The reasons below are taken from the complaint:

"Weil, what insurance had you on your stock?" enquired Mr. Randall of Mr. Weil.

"We had $26,000 insurance on our stock, and will lose from $5,000 to $10,000," replied Mr. Weil.

Mr. Randall responded: "You can tell that story to your grandmother; you can't tell that story to me. I am satisfied you set the building on fire to obtain the insurance, and what I say I will prove in court."

Far the words above, Mr. Weil says his name is damaged to the extent of $10,000. W. G. Colerick is his counsel.

In Self-Defense.

RICHMOND, Ky., , Nov. 18.—Young Robert McCreary, son of Congressman McCreary, was acquitted yesterday at his examination trial, for the killing of Wm. Schilling, a restaurant keeper. It was held that McCreary did the shooting in self-defese.

Telegraphers Must Go.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Nearly two hundred telegraphers, of both sexes, of the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph company were notified on Tuesday that their services would not be needed after the last of this month.

Hugh J. Jewett.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Nov. 18.—Mr. Hugh J. Jewett, who is at his home, about ten miles from this place, is easier, but his physicians pronounce his condition serious and fear fatal results.

It surprises people to learn that an Overcoat can be sold for one dollar or a boys' suit for two dollars, but Sam, Pete & Max have convinced the public that nothing is beyond their abilities.

The Weather.

THE HANGMAN!

Executes the Death Penalty Upon a Georgia Moonshiner for the Murder of James B. Goddard.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—Kilman C. Justice was hanged at Hiawasse at noon to-day for the murder of Jas. B. Goddard. Justice was a moonshiner and killed Goddard because he thought he had given information leading to the discovery of his still.

LEAPED INTO ETERNITY.

Col. John S. McCleary, a Prominent Bluffton Educator, Takes His Own Life.

Last evening, at Bluffton, Prof. John S. McCleary, known as the "blind professor," climbed to the second story of the court house and feeling his way along the corridors to a street window, he threw it open.

As if to test the distance and ascertain the chances of death, McCleary tossed his cane to the pavement below. After hearing the stick rebound, the old man climbed out on the window preparing to drop himself into eternity,

"Don't leap" shouted a half dozen people who witnessed the desperate man.

"I know what I am doing. Go to hell," came the response from McCleary, who instantly tossed himself to the merciless pavement. He fell headforemost, his skull was fractured, the bones of the body broken and his face mutilated

This was at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, but McCleary lingered between life and death until last evening.

Mr. McCleary was for years superintendent of the Bluffton schools. He was finely educated and was widely known, even in Fort Wayne. He was a brother of the late Dr. J. R. McCleary and lived at Bluffton for thirty years. He drank hard of late and used the dreadful means detailed to free himself from its relentless grip.

There is still another violent death to record over there. George Rich was at work in a mill at Uniondale, west of Bluffton. Yesterday he accidentally ran against a circular saw and was torn to bits by its teeth.

The Gazette had a very fair and sensible editorial on the water works situation this morning. Mr. Leonard, the writer, is a practical civil engineer and is especially capable in water works affairs. When he tells the people of Fort Wayne—coming here, as he does, a disinterested stranger—that the present water supply is insufficient and impure, it will carry great weight with it. Mr. Leonard calls on the trustees to get purer and better water for the citizens of Fort Wayne, rejoicing at the same time that there is plenty of it at hand.

The Water Famine.

The following dispatch comes by the Associated Press:

FORT WAYNE, Nov. 18.—Fort Wayne is about to experience a water famine because of the long draught. The water in the supply basin, as well as the small streams that contribute to it, is so low that enough pressure is given to the mains to operate the elevators in the hotels and other buildings and their use has been abandoned. The electric light engine cannot get enough water.

Ask the majority of well-dressed people, who is your tailor? Messrs. "Sam, Pete & Max" is the prompt and invariable reply.

THE BIG FAIR

Moving Along Nicely---Only Two More Nights.

Y. M. C. A. fair moves along without much noise and is fairly well patronized by our people. The attendance last night was large, 'though the cash receipts did not show up as well as the night previous. To-night, it is hoped, will be the big night. The attractions will be fine. Come, and show by your presence, that you are in sympathy with the cause of the Y. M. C. A.

This evening will be presented a musical program, in which the Haydn quartet, Mesdames McCulloch and Bond and other good musicians will participate.

The art booth will have many new attractions to-night.

The Japanese booth is running over with fine things for Christmas presents.

The "Humanophore" is one of the best attractions ever seen at a fair.

To-night will be presented the "Humanophone," and it will be a grand musical feature of the evening. At the suggestion of Mrs. McDonald, Professor Heath will manipulate the "Humanophone," which will produce excellent music from, live, breathing notes. Everyone will be delighted.

Don't fail to see the garment cutter at the Y. M. C. A. fair.

Leave your measures for a tailor cut pattern at the Y. M. C. A. fair.

The orchestra furnished by Mr. Reineke, discourse most excellent music.

Miss Mary Randall has started an extensive dry goods store, where she dispenses dry goods of all kinds, notions, ribbons and laces. She has engaged the Misses Grace Hayden, Edith Maier and Mrs. Randall as her efficient help, and they will make it successful.

The doll booth catches the hearts of all, and many delight to gaze, as it reminds of happy youthful days, when cares were less and delights unalloyed.

The fish pond has its devotees, and while the sport may be classed as aquatic, this proves a "dry land" pond, but you "get a bite every pop," and have lots of fun. Everybody should "go a-fishing."

The flower booth is doing a big business.

To-morrow afternoon is children's day and the admission will be only five cents. It is to be hoped that the children will turn out in full force.

Patronize the country store.

Come to the fair to-night.

There is no lottery of any kind at the fair.

Do not fail to secure a photograph of your preacher.

Home-made candy made every day at the candy booth.

Go and see the dolls. Auction to-night.

A Republican Ringed by His Democratic Friends.

Mr. C. A. Hogin was presented, by his friends in the Fort Wayne postoffice, with a fine ring, J. C. Williard acting as spokesman. Mr. Hogin has been on the Fort Wayne and Cincinnati railroad for more than five years and now resigns to look after his interest in the new glass works at Marion, Ind.

Democrats in Council.

The executive committee of the democratic state organization met at Indianapolis Wednesday. There was a consciousness of approaching victory on everybody's lips, and none expressed it better than Senator Bell and Supt. John Wilkinson, who represented the Twelfth district. The committee seeks the power to arbitrate and settle all local and congressional district disturbances so that nothing will prevail against success in 1888.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS

The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world. Mason & Hamlin offer, as do no other, the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition of the best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues free.

PIANOS. Mason & Hamlin's Piano Stringer was introduced by them in 1882, and has been pronounced by experts the "greatest improvement in pianos in half a century."

A circular, containing testimonials from 300 purchasers, musicians and tuners, sent, together with descriptive catalogue, to any applicant.

Daily Sentinel

FRIDAY, NOV. 18, 1887.

JOAQUIN MILLER has had a vast amount of trouble in his domestic affairs. Not long ago his favorite daughter married an actor against her father's will, and now "Hal" Miller, a son of the famous poet, is in jail in Nevada City for horse-stealing. "Hal" is a young fellow not yet 18 years of age. He offers another illustration of the fact that his father's life has been one of verses and reverses.

FIFTEEN years ago Jacob Trackbach of New Portage, O., who was thought to be rich and was known to be miserly, died; but all efforts to find the money that he was supposed to have accumulated failed. The other day two woodchoppers cut down a tree near the miser's old home, and in a hole in the tree found gold, silver, and notes to the value of $10,000. They tried to keep it quiet, but their good fortune was too much for them. They had found Trackbach's money.

A ST. LOUIS cigar dealer says: "I had a good laugh to myself one day when I saw a second-hand dealer strike an old bedstead with his knuckles and say to the lady who was bargaining for it: 'Madam, that bedstead is solid poplar.' But the laugh is now on me. I bought a lot of cigar-boxes, all cedar, I thought. By accident I broke one of them the other day, and I found that they were made of ash, with a cedar veneering as thin as paper on the surface, inside and out. That is getting business down pretty fine, said I to myself."

CHESTER DAWES, son of the Massachusetts Senator, is one of the assistant counsels for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, and has an office in Chicago. He was graduated from Yale in the class of '76. A few days ago he was looking out of his office window and caught sight of Creighton Webb, a college classmate. Dawes called to Webb to come up to his office. "I've got a friend with me," answered Webb. "Trot him up, old man," was the cordial answer. When the pair reached the office Dawes was somewhat astonished on being presented by Webb to "His Grace the Duke of Marlborough."

MR. P. T. BARNUM has decided that henceforth his circus shall have no clown. This is a revolutionary departure in the circus business. The circus-going public likes to laugh at the clown, and has come to look on him as the safe and reliable repository of ancient jokes which, but for the clown, would pass from human memory. What will the circus sawdust be without a grinning, whitewashed face, his merry songs, his reckless tumbling, and his humorous "chestnuts," repeated with as much cheerful confidence in their laughter-provoking qualities as if they had not been known to everybody before the flood? Mr. Barnum is making a great professional mistake.

THE American girl is cleverly pictured by Habberton in a novel: "She was the oldest child, so she had her own way; she was pretty, so she had always been petted; she was 20, so she knew everything that she thought worth knowing. She had long before reconstructed the world (in her own mind) just as it should be, from the standpoint that it ought to exist solely for her benefit. Not bad-tempered, on the contrary cheerful and full of high spirits, she was nevertheless in perpetual protest against everything that was not exactly as she would have it, and not all the manners that careful breeding could impart could restrain the unconscious insolence peculiar to young and self-satisfied natures."

GOV. BOB TAYLOR, of Tennessee, says that he is careful of champagne and applejack, and this is the why of the applejack: "When I was a boy one cold, frosty night we were out on a lark in the Tennessee mountains and drank abundance of applejack. The cold prevented its taking effect, but when I came into mother's warm room it floored me. I had sense enough not to talk, and groaned how sick I was, and knowing she would smell the brandy I said I had stopped by aunt's and got some brandy, but it had not helped my stomachache a bit. She then put me to bed and spread a great big mustard plaster on me, and I could not walk for three weeks. I have the marks of it on me yet."

THE estimate made in the report of consumption of timber by the railroads shows that 100,000,000 acres or one-fifth of our present forest area have been stripped for this purpose during the last fifty years and that the next fifty will very likely call for double that amount. A good deal of stress is laid, and justly, upon the great loss entailed by the absence of facilities, where much of the timber is taken, for utilizing the inferior grades of material and the leaving. Any one familiar with the history of lumbering in Michigan or Wisconsin can well understand this. When the business was first begun nothing was taken but the best, and what was left to decay or used in filling up marshes would have made many a lumber merchant rich ten years later.

JUDGE LAWRENSON, of Baltimore, last week celebrated the sixty-eighth anniversary of his connection with the Government. He will be 85 years of age next March. October 19, 1819, Judge Lawrenson received an appointment in the Baltimore postoffice, and in 1834 was transferred to the Postoffice Department at Washington. He has been there ever since. He goes to Washington from Baltimore every morning and returns to the latter city in the evening. He has made this journey daily for more than fifty years.

POPE LEO XIII. derives his revenue from three sources. One is the interest of the vast sum left by Pius IX. in the Pontifical Treasury, invested chiefly in English consols. This interest amounts to about $625,000 a year. Another source is the Peter's pence contribution, which, in spite of the very great reduction in late years, averages about $415,000 annually. The third source is the Apostolic Chancery, the receipts of which include sums received for titles and decorations, privileges of the altar, private chapels, etc., and aggregate about $520,000 a year. The entire annual income of Leo XIII. therefore, is about $1,500,000.

AN exchange, speaking of Ben Butler's argument before the Supreme Court in behalf of the Anarchists, inquires whether a member of the legal profession has a right to use his skill for the purpose of preventing the punishment of persons known to be guilty of crime. This brings irresistibly to mind the discussion started in a hen-coop one dark night by two colored marauders. "Sambo," said one of them, "am it right for us to take dese chickens?" "Dat am a great moral question, Gabe," said the other, "we ain't got no time to 'scuss it. Hand down 'nudder pullet." Ben Butler never wastes any time in considering the moral aspect of a case when he is reaching for a retaining fee.

A LARGE clothing store at Vienna, Austria, has just introduced a new "department for small means." It is located in the underground, and contains second-hand goods. All those attending to fashion and appearance buy new clothes every season, their last season's wardrobe being very good yet. They return the latter at a comparatively low figure, and pay the difference between it and the price they are charged for their new, fashionable clothes. These returned goods of the preceding season go to the "small means" department and are sold at a little advance, enough to cover expenses. In that department workmen, clerks, and others are thus able to buy good clothes at very low figures.

A TOPEKA woman, Mrs. Mary Abarr, has taken a claim in Western Kansas and holds it. The "rustler" of that section has endeavored to annoy her and force her to abandon it, but she is an American girl, and thus talks to them in a notice stuck upon her house and in the local paper: "Further depredations in the way of poking and peering in at my windows after night, or carrying off my provisions or otherwise spooking around molesting me or mine, will result fatally to you. There is something about the house loaded and with further provocation will go off, and you will most likely hear and feel something drop. MARY ABARR, Pre-emptor. P. S.—If you can't read, or don't take the paper, you had better get your neighbor to read this notice to you, for I mean business."

GEN. GREEN B. RAUM, chairman of the Washington committee appointed to provide for the erection of a statue to Gen. Logan at the national capital, was called upon by Col. Alberto Malo of the Mexican army and informed that the American colony in Mexico, together with a number of Mexicans, had obtained and desired to present to the monument committee an onyx slab from the Mexican mines. The slab, which is two and one-half feet square, cost $1,000 in Mexico. It is now in New York and will be sent to Washington to the committee, which will request Mrs. Logan to be the custodian of it until the monument shall be completed. It is expected that the soldiers will contribute the fund for the monument, and Congress will undoubtedly furnish a suitable place to erect it upon some of the government reservations.

THE conspicuous presence in Irish politics of Sir Thomas Henry Grattan Esmonde, who is now visiting this country, may be attributed to an ugly accident which befell him a few years ago. He was a great lover of sport and seemed to think of nothing more serious than dogs and guns and horses. One day, while hunting in Tipperary, he was accidentally shot in the right knee by one of his companions. This enforced his retirement from the field for some months and he devoted that time largely to reading Irish history and works on social and political economy. The result was that the "rebel" blood—his ancestors waged warfare against Elizabeth, James I., and Cromwell—became aroused and he emerged from his sick room an earnest, ardent, and advanced home-rule politician. His mother, it may be recalled, was a granddaughter of the famous Irish statesman, Grattan.

THERE is a chain of prairie-dog towns along the Texas and Pacific road beginning west of Abilene and extending nearly to Big Springs. The little fellows always climb upon their hills and squat on their hind feet to watch the train go by. Hunters say it is almost impossible to kill one of the dogs and get his body, so quickly does he dive into his hole at the explosion of a gun. Frequently, if fatally hit, the little burrower falls dead into his earth domicile. Men have tried to make them come out of their burrows by pouring great quantities of water in at the mouth of the hole, but they will not emerge even at that treatment. Some of the villages cover five acres of ground and their territory extends for 100 miles along the railroad track.

Our College Presidents.

An eminent writer, showing what an excellent thing is a college education, cites the fact that there have been seventeen Presidents of the United States, and eleven of the seventeen were college men. Well, that's so. But let's weigh these Presidents on the finer scales, as long as we're going into statistics. Who were the Presidents who never went to college at all, and precious little to any school? Washington, Jackson, Lincoln—oh, well; the college may have the other fourteen; its hardly worth while counting any farther.—Bob Burdette.

HOW TO DO IT.

He who scorches his finger knows, or ought to know, that by holding it near fire or flame the greater heat of the latter, acting by attraction, draws out the minor heat in the finger and the pain ceases. This is, however, cruel treatment, and is only referred to in explanation of a principle. No one would be so foolish as to expose a large burn to such a process, as the result would be pain intolerable. It is said that a burn or scald in extent the size of one-third the surface of the human body is incurable, for the reason that the vital forces exhaust themselves in trying to rebuild or renew what has been destroyed by the burn. Nature hates any disturbance to the harmony of its action, and in its struggle to overcome such an injury, overpowers itself. The excessive heat, inhaled or absorbed, weakens the vitals and nature has not sufficient strength to go into battle. These are important things to know, for it is only on true principles that nature is helped in its struggle, and only through ignorance that suffering is intensified or proves fatal where it could be relieved.

Scores of people daily brought in contact with heat, steam, boiling water and combustibles are hourly injured by some mishap in the nature of a burn or scald, and thousands have been cured of such by the best known remedy for the cure of pain. The principle of how it works explains itself after what has been said. It acts as a counter-irritant on the surface injured, gently drawing out the heat caused by the burn, while it soothes the pain, helping nature in the healing process, and a cure follows. It is a specific for pains of this kind and should be kept handy where fire and steam are used.

But as a precaution to its use where serious burns or scalds occur, and that suffering may not be intensified through ignorance, read carefully directions for its use accompanying every bottle. Thousands who testify to being cured of burns and scalds have been so guided, and praise without stint the virtues of St. Jacobs Oil by which they have been cured.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving he child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an official form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

NEW HAVEN NEWS.

C. A. Zollinger, state pension agent, of Indianapolis, was in town Wednesday.

Mrs. Dennis Keefe has been very sick with lung fever the past few days.

Frederick Schuckman and Theresa Laudin were married Tuesday morning at the Catholic church.

Miss Callie Powers and Inez Dougal, of Fort Wayne, who were the guests of Miss Maggie Powers, returned home Sunday evening.

Who is the young dude that took two of our young ladies to Fort Wayne, Tuesday, and got left, the ladies driving the horse home, and he was obliged to return on a train.

Mr. and Mrs. George Corlen, of Huntington, Ind., who were the guests of L. M. Rogers, returned home Tuesday.

Adolph Foelleringer, who has been hunting in southern Missouri, returned home Monday morning. Adolph is a good shot and brought in two deer.

Some thief stole Jos. Stutz's buggy harness about two weeks ago and after considerable searching they were found at Shuman's second-hand store at Fort Wayne, Tuesday, where Mr. Stutz took possession of his harness.

Sunday last H. F. Schnelker, J. J. Lee, Henry Blaising, F. A. Bueter, L. Kleinrichert and H. H. Schnelker, with their wives, were taken by H. F. Schnelker to his farm, about eleven miles east. H. F. made it pleasant as he could for the party.

We should think for the sake of not giving it away, our trustee from the Second ward would learn "Tacco" to stay at home and not sit outside and give his master away, who is in getting a morning eye opener.

John Bickel and Justin Ray, two of New Haven's crack shots, visited the big woods east of New Haven Sunday and finished their hunt Monday morning. When returning home their horse became unmanageable and ran away, breaking the buggy, but both escaped uninjured. John brought in a few squirrels and one of our tame geese. Ray crippled a goose and also succeeded in running it in. They agree better game can be had nearer home and at a less cost.

NOW AND THEN.

An errand boy in a Philadelphia fancy store has just been left $500,000, but it is thought he will die early of consumption. There is nothing better for young children that are daily exposed than a spoonful or two of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The Dangers of Foot-Ball.

The game is as safe as any outdoor game can well be, provided it is played with the careful preparation and training which are the rule in the larger colleges; it is a dangerous and unfit game when men undertake to play it without such preparation and training. In the season of last year, two fatal accidents were reported; both occurred in colleges which were attempting to play the game as it is played by the leading teams, without any of the preparation which they find an essential. The writer, who has been in the habit of attending the regular games of the college, with which he is connected, has felt under obligations to be equally consistent in attending the daily practice games of the men, in order to watch the preliminary training; and he must confess to a great respect for the good sense and good management of the under-graduates who have the matter in charge. 'The University team' is selected provisionally; it is pitted daily against a second, or 'scrub,' team of somewhat larger numbers; both teams are kept under careful training and supervision; the playing is made short and as gentle as possible at first, until the men begin to become 'hard;' the playing is then gradually lengthened and made more severe, as the men become able to endure it; and, by the time the season comes to its last game, the players are able to endure with impunity treatment which would be dangerous to men who are 'soft,' or out of condition. After the first few weeks are over, and serious playing has begun, men who have not yet played are not encouraged, or, in extreme cases, even allowed, to play on the 'scrub' team; the managers think it inadvisable to run any risks. The players are not only brought to a point of physical condition which makes it a pleasure to watch them; they are taught how to fall, when a fall is inevitable, in such a way as to retain control of the ball without hazarding a broken bone or a dislocation. When the closing games come on, the player can take what seems to the spectator a frightful fall, not only without a bruise, but so skillfully that it is regularly necessary for his opponent to 'hold him down' lest he rebound and take to his heels again. The preliminary practice games can hardly be more severe elsewhere than at Princeton; and yet the writer has never seen a serious accident occur there. An accident may occur, of course, and will give no warning of its coming, but its coming has been put as far as possible out of the range of probability. But if men in other colleges wished to play foot-ball, as should be the case, they must not ignore the systematic course of preparation, take the final playing of a well-trained team as a model, and attempt to imitate it. It is from such folly that the recurring accidents in foot-ball come. With good physical condition in the players, the requisite training, and suitable grounds, the game is not only one of the best of outdoor sports, but one of the safest."

For cleansing and healing foul and indolent Ulcers, Sores and Abscesses and removing the bad odors arising therefrom, and for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, Darby Prophylactic Fluid is unequalled.

"I have used Darbys Prophylactic Fluid in hospital and private practice for ten years and know of nothing better for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds foul and indolent ulcers and as a disinfectant."—John F. HEUSTIS, Professor Mobile Med. college.

A LITTLE BOY came to his mother recently and said, "Mamma, I should think that if I was made of dust, I would get muddy inside when I drink."

A VALIANT FIGHT.

How Rochester, N. Y., Wrestled With the Telephone and Won!

Rochester, N. Y., is the only city in the United States which does not generally use the Bell telephone!

On the 20th of November, 1886, about seven hundred subscribers hung up their 'phones, and they have been hung up since!

It is the most noteworthy fight with a corporation ever know.

The cause of it was the attempt of the local Bell company (whose officers all lived in another city) to exact a rate per message from the subscribers, instead of a "flat rate." The people resisted it, the courts sustained the position that the license was revokable at will, the Common Council revoked it. The company ignored this action, and, without permission, erected poles in the streets and strung additional wires; but the courts held that this was unlawful.

According to the message rate, a house like H. H. Warner & Co., proprietors of Warner's safe cure, who were among the heaviest patrons, would have to pay something like $1,000 a year for the same telephone service as before.

For a city of 125,000 people Rochester has made a good many sensations. Sam Patch and his deadly leap, the Fox sisters' spiritual rappings, Seward's "Irrepressible conflict" speech, Susan B. Anthony's attempt to vote, the cometary discoveries of Dr. Swift, of Warner observatory, have each made the city the "talk of the world;" she leads in the manufacture of proprietary medicine, and her immense nursery, shoe and clothing interests puts her in the front rank.

The origin of one of her greatest industries is interesting: About ten years ago one of her foremost citizens was stricken down in the very height of a successful business, with what his doctors said was an incurable disease. They gave him up to die. He then used what is now known as Warner's safe cure, and since then has developed as the world's great champion of the people against the assumed monopoly of physicians over the treatment of disease!

His fight, too, has been a determined one, and as successful as determined. To-day he is the head of the largest proprietary medicine business in the world, having branch houses and laboratories in London, England; Toronto, Canada; Melbourne, Victoria; Sydney, New South Wales; Frankfort, Germany; Prague, Austria; Ragoon, Burmah.

Many foreign governments will not permit the manufacture and sale of proprietary medicines of any name or nature until their formulæ, value and harmlessness are by them established, after the most searching scientific inquiries. In every case Warner's safe cure has passed examination with the highest satisfaction to the government chemists and analysts, and the sought-for permission has been granted, which no other American has before secured.

This confirms the magnificent reputation given it by leading physicians, ministers, senators, congressmen, lawyers and ladies of the world. "Its secret of success," says the leading physician at Clifton Springs, N. Y., sanitarium, "is the simplicity of its compounds and the proportions in which they are compounded."

"How do the people get on?"

The universal verdict is: "We don't miss the 'phone, except to our profit!"

There has been practically no break in the united opposition begun last November.

The American is getting to be quite as tenacious of his personal rights as against conspiring monopolies as is the typical Englishman, and this Rochester telephone episode is a noteworthy illustration of the fact.

Six Quarts at a Draught.

Drinking is a sea custom not yet dead—at least if it is dead, the fault is not Jack's, says a writer in the London Telegraph. But, even though the economical principles of owners had suffered perpetuation of the practice on shipboard, I question whether the most bibulous of the present race of sailors could carry it to the height to which it was formerly raised. I suppose the very biggest drink on record is that related by Dampier. He relates that there came on board his ship one Capt. Rawlins, the commander of a small New England vessel, along with a Mr. John Hooker. They were asked into the cabin to drink, and a bowl was made containing six quarts. "Mr. Hooker being drunk to by Capt. Rawlins, who pledged Capt. Hudswell, and, having the bowl in his hand, said that he was under an oath to drink but three draughts of strong liquor a day, and putting the bowl to his head turned it off at one draught, and so making himself drunk, disappointed us of our expectations until we had made another bowl."

Twelve pints to a swallow, without a sigh between! But then hard drinking was the custom, not on the privateers only, but of the whole seafaring race of early times. They were educated to it by liberal doses of grog. The allowance sometimes rose to a pint of rum per man a day. In the French, Spanish, and Portuguese ships, and very often in the Dutch, sailors' courage before an action was nearly invariably helped by jacks of brandy, and the doses were repeated while the fight proceeded, a bumper being handed between the guns. The men, frenzied by drink, would mix gunpowder with the spirits, supposing that, thus prepared, there was no better liquor for heroes. I think it need not be doubted that more actions were lost than gained by this custom. How should a drunken gunner aim his piece? and what mischief (save to one another) could a mob of inebriated small-arms men do in the tops or along the quarter-deck? But if privateersmen could be found able to swallow six quarts at a draught, they had customs besides that of drinking which must have tended to make them desperately hardy-seasoned men. It was their practice to keep their ships clear, so that the deck was the only bed they had to lie upon. No hammocks were allowed, no chairs or tables; they took their meals upon the deck and lay upon it; preserving, in this direction, the old tradition of the buccaneers, who denied themselves every imaginable comfort and convenience that they might never be mistaken for anything else than the savage beasts they were.

An Execution in Korea.

Writing of Korea a correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle says: The manner of killing criminals is peculiar and is especially obnoxious to the Catholic Christians, who are abundant in this country. An ordinary Roman cross is set up on a huge cart drawn by oxen. The man is tied to this with arms extended, and he is thus drawn through the streets. A crier precedes the procession, announcing the crime for which the man is being punished. His friends are allowed to follow and protest his innocence and bewail his sad fate, but as the punishment is usually visited upon the family if the treason has been glaring the following of friends is apt to be rather small.

There are two places of execution at the capital. One, seldom used, is in the city, while the chief places is just outside the west gate on a hillside, where the immense crowds upon the city wall and other high places can get a good view of the interesting sight. Whether the prisoner in his exhausted state, has succumbed to the torture on the cross or not, on arriving at the place of execution he is placed face downward, with his neck upon a block, when, by one stroke, if it is a good one, the heavy sword severs the head from the body. The hands and feet are then cut off, and the mutilated body is carried back into the city and laid, chest downward, in one of the streets, where it must lay for three days.

It is refreshiug to note that the people, and even the dogs, avoid that street for the time being, and the adjoining shops are closed. They count from the evening when the body is laid out till daylight of the third day, so that the body only lies there one day in reality. The foreigners resident in the capital during the time following the emeute of 1884, when so many political criminals were executed, often stumbled upon these horrible sights in their journeyings about the streets. On one occasion when the bodies were near the legations the representatives combined and asked for their removal.

It should be mentioned that the humane king is opposed to this practice, which custom seems still to demand. In case the accuser should be proved an impostor and to have accused the man falsely, the prisoner or his friends have the right to demand an eye from him. Their method of obtaining the organ is quite novel, and if well performed it is more expeditious than is the modern surgical method of eneucleation. The culprit is made to stoop over and is then hit with the loaded end of a flexible stick upon a spot on the back of the head, when the eye protrudes sufficiently so that it may be cut off. If, however, the people who wish the eye are not prompt in doing the cutting operation the prisoner may quickly replace the eye and possess it thereafter in peace, all of which is said to have been done many times, but unfortunately has not been witnessed, as yet, by foreigners.

FRIDAY, NOV. 18, 1887.

THE CITY NEWS.

Kellar at the Temple to-night.

Mr. W. S. Morris is at Danville, Ill.

Mr. J. H. Bass returned from Chicago this morning.

Mrs. W. C. Kocher, of Huntington, is visiting in the city.

Col. C. A. Zollinger went to Indianapolis yesterday afternoon.

Judge Robert Lowry is engaged in legal business at Columbia City.

Judge L. M. Ninde has been retained in a damage suit at Rome City.

H. W. Bond has purchased the Columbia street flour mill from Andy Kalbacher.

The Wilson & Rankin minstrels left early this morning for Davenport, Iowa, where they play to-night.

The Muncie Times says: "D. E. Heaton, a prominent business man of Fort Wayne, was here to-day."

Wabash has organized a board of trade, with A. M. Atkinson, president, and Warren Bigler, secretary.

The wonderful Kellar, whose feats of magic have startled the world, will open a two nights' engagement at the Temple to-night.

At the Scottish Rite convocation, at Indianapolis, Hon. R. C. Bell responded in his elegant style to the toast: "Fort Wayne Lodge of Perfection, V. D."

Mr. Platt J. Wise, of this city, was chosen a director of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows, at Indianapolis. Mr. Wise is one of the prominent Odd Fellows of the state and is titled past grand master.

The minstrel performance by the Wilson & Rankin company is not well spoken of by people who witnessed it. They have a few clever musicians, but outside of that the show is slow. The writer did not see it.

All members of the Wayne Building, Loan and Savings association are requested to meet at the Custer house this evening to pay their first installment of dues. Those not paying this evening will not be considered members.

The Jackson Guards will form a stock company, with $15,000 capital, to build a new armory. The financiers of the company figure out that $2,300 per year in rents will be realized from the part of the building not occupied for armory purposes. This is a pointer for the Fort Wayne Rifles.

In detailing the proceedings of the National Baptist convention, the Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Rev. S. A. Northrop, a rising young exponent of the gospel, from Fort Wayne, was the only voluntary speaker on these papers, and he made a most earnest appeal for more practical methods in theological instructions."

Four suits have been filed in the federal court against certain merchants of Elkhart, this state, by the Lamson Cash Railway company, alleging infringement of patent in the use of the cash and parcel store service apparatus, patented by the plaintiffs. This suit involves what is known as the Osgood and Barr patents, hundreds of which are now in use throughout the state.

A member of THE SENTINEL staff saw Booth, Barrett and their equally celebrated company in "Julius Cæsar" at Wheeler's opera house, Toledo, last night. The prices of admission ranged from $1 to $3 and almost every seat was sold. The writer believes that the company would pay their guarantee at Fort Wayne, because not in a life time are two such men to again be seen essaying Shakespeare's plays. They have been engaged for three performances at Indianapolis. An attempt might be made to test the public pulse in Fort Wayne at prices to cover a $2,700 guarantee.

Mr. Geo. E. Small, formerly of Marion township, and now residing in Archer's addition, on St. Mary's avenue, held ticket 4,169, and was presented by Messrs. Sam, Pete and Max, the people's clothiers, with the valuable city lot, corner Spring street and St. Mary's avenue.

Mr. John Lillie went to Wabash yesterday.

Judge Taylor left for Boston, Mass., last night.

Dan O'Brien went to jail this morning for drunkenness.

Mr. Henry Clay Parker is a guest of the Aveline house.

The dust was blinding to-day. The streets ought to be sprinkled.

Deputy Sheriff Platt J. Wise returned last evening from Indianapolis.

The Zollinger Gattling gun squad will meet on Saturday evening to elect a captain.

Mrs. H. F. Leopold, of Duluth, Minn., is the guest of her brother, Mr. Max Nirdlinger.

Bayless Holmes left last evening for Scranton, Miss., and his family will follow next week.

The Wayne Building and Loan association will be organized at the Custer house to-night.

Kellar, the clever magician, will entertain the Temple patrons to-night in his inimitable way.

Judge R. S. Taylor left last night for Boston in the interest of the Fort Wayne Jenney Electric Light company.

The Morton club gave one of its delightful receptions last evening. The club will give a reception and musicale every two weeks.

Frank Wilt's horse was discovered browsing on the commons south of the city. There was no reason at all to suppose it was stolen.

Vicar General J. H. Brammer is expected home from New York city this evening. The beloved priest went east to consult a physician.

John McKinzie, superintendent of motive power on the New York, Chicago and St. Louis road, arrived in the city from Chicago, yesterday.

Mrs. Fred Meyers, of Archer's addition, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Funeral on Saturday at 2 p. m. from St. John's Lutheran church.

Hon. Bruce Carr and Henry Thornton, of Indianapolis, will visit our city on Saturday next in the interest of the Commercial Travelers' association of Indiana.

Robert Bonner has retired from the management of the New York Ledger. His three sons will carry on the business. Mr. Bonner has been a printer for forty-eight years.

The Christian church ministers of northern Indiana met yesterday and secured the services of Rev. B. C. Black to labor as evangelist in the counties of Allen, Whitley, Adams and Wells.

Mr. James Fields, the book keeper for Boltz & Derheimer, went to Aboit this morning to look at some lumber. He took his gun and dog with him and will do some hunting of game while he is gone.

The Huntington Herald says: "Conductor Hayes has suffered a relapse and is again seriously sick. He is at the residence of his father-in-law, Conductor Gates, of the Pittsburg road, at Fort Wayne."

C. A. Hogan, a popular mail clerk on the Muncie road, resigned his position to-day, to retire to his home at Marion, Ind. The postoffice boys sent for Mr. Hogan, this morning, and slipped on his finger a gold ring as a token of their esteem.

Kiralfy's "Dolores" is having a great run at Indianapolis. The only bad feature about this, and in fact all French plays, is that they license virtue and condone vice, a sentiment that prevailed during the reign of the greatest French dramatists.

Mr. W. R. Durfee is arranging a big shooting match for Thanksgiving day at the White range. In the morning there will be a contest between Messrs. Wheal, Hunsaker, Watson and Durfee and in the afternoon a free-for-all-match.

The Graffe minstrels, at Library hall, next Monday and Tuesday nights, will make a special effort on the military specialties. A special invitation is hereby extended to the G. A. R. to attend these performances. Tickets can be had of any of the members.

District Woman Suffrage convention will be held as follows: Wabash, Nov. 18 and 19; Terre Haute, Nov. 22 and 23; South Bend, Nov. 24 and 25; Fort Wayne, Nov. 25 and 26; Muncie, Nov. 28 and 29; Anderson, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1; Madison, Dec. 2 and 3; New Albany, Dec. 5 and 6.

It is not generally known that Miss Jarbeau, who will star in "Starlight," at the Temple, Tuesday evening next, is an American girl and a native of New York city. She has been singing in light opera for several years. She has been west several times as a member of the "Evangeline" company, the Duff opera company and the "Confusion" party. She took a leading part for some time in Henry Dixey's "Adonis" company, while it experienced its successful run at Bob Miles' Bijou theatre, in New York. She has never starred before, but in "Starlight," surrounded by a number of bright people, she has scored one of the successes of the season. She is not only a very clever artist, but she is a very agreeable little lady off the stage.

If you can spare a few minutes, it will interest you to see a direct consignment from Tokio, Japan, to Messrs. Sam, Pete & Max, of gross grain silk, plain and embroidered smoking jackets. They are beauties.

Fred G. Boyd, general agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, is in the city visiting friends.

J. M. Dickson and C. F. Somers, the popular engineers on the Pittsburg, have sold their cigar and news-stand.

N. N. Brock, the manager of "Thrown Upon the World," which appears at the Academy three nights next week, is at the Robinson.

The big dredge in Little River will cross the Wabash track Sunday, and Mr. T. E. Ellison will invite a party out to witness the feat in engineering.

Charles E. Brinsley and Hattie E. Philabaum, K. H. Filler and Mariętta Davis, Wm. F. Muhn and Emma M. Frederick have been licensed to wed.

The directors of the Business Men's exchange met last night and talked over the affairs of the association. Dues will be assessed against the membership after October 1.

Dennis Gorman is recovering from his severe illness very slowly. It is expected, however, that he will resume his place in the county auditor's office in a few weeks.

Mrs. Woods, who keeps a boarding house on Superior street, filed an affidavit in Justice France's court against the Jenney Electric company, charging them with burning crude oil to the great annoyance of residents near the works.

Henry Schreck has run his race at last. In the mayor's court, this morning, he had a hearing on the charge of stealing $4.90 from Jacob Hizer. He was convicted, and Mayor Muhler bound him over for trial in the sum of $500. Schreck is in jail.

The boys in the manufacturing establishments of the city are now beginning to enquire whether they will be able to have a holiday on Thanksgiving day or not. Work is urgent in many of the establishments and some of them, at least, will not shut down.

Susan E. Irvin has sold to Chas. H. L. Mayer, lot 86, Beck's second addition, for $1,200; Hamilton bank to Wm. Siebert, lot 8, Rockhill's addition, for $1,500; Mary A. Whery to Georgiana McCullough, lot 210, Hanna's addition, for $2,100; Georgiana McCollough to Benjamin Saunders, lot 5, White's addition, for $1,200.

WILLIAMS' ADDITION,

South of Creighton avenue, the following streets: Harrison, Webster, Taber and Suttenfield, are 60 feet in width and are "parked," as is customary in many other cities east and west. With the regular six feet walk, nine feet more are taken from the street, fifteen feet on each side, for grass plat and trees. This is called "parking" the street. Which still remains amply wide for carriages and wagons. Where streets are thus "parked" fences are usually considered a superfluous expense and the roadway is more easily kept rounded up in good condition for driving.

THEY MEAN BUSINESS.

The New Furniture Company Buy Land and Will Erect Large Buildings Immediately.

The syndicate of gentlemen who bought the Bickford furniture company plant, now located on East Wayne street, to-day purchased two acres of land just east of the old Baker sawmill and north of the Nickel Plate railroad track. Ground will be broken for an immense building to morrow morning. Messrs. Wing & Mahurin, the architects, are at work on plans for the building, to be constructed of conjugated iron, and will have them ready by Monday. The buildings are to be of such dimensions that ten of the patent folding beds can be turned out in one day. The sales of the establishment will be under the charge of Mr. D. N. Foster, of the Foster Furniture company, and the factory will be under the management of Mr. Dan Kehler, whose patent (one of the latest and best) will be used.

The old company had long been hampered for room and this move on the part of the new firm will enable them to so increase their force of men that they can keep up with the orders in this branch of the furniture business, which is growing so rapidly.

By the first of January they expect to be able to move into their new quarters.

BILL CRANCE.

The Murderer of Jonah Carson Escapes From Prison.

Two convicts made their escape from the Northern prison Wednesday by cutting through two floors from the hospital and scaling a twenty-five foot wall. They were Wm. Crance, from Allen county, for life for murder, and Wm. H. Martin, from Tippecanoe, for four years for embezzlement. A reward of $200 is offered for their capture. Crance is fifty one years of age and was sent to the prison north for the murder of Jonah Carson near Sheldon some nine years ago. The convicts are supposed to have headed for Chicago.

Nowadays a frequent and painful disease, rheumatism, can be permanently cured by Salvation Oil. All druggists keep it. Price 25 cents.

MAD FLAMES!

Destroy the Immense Car Works of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad at Ludlow, Ky.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 18.—At 2:30 this morning a fire started in the carpenter shop of the Cincinnati Southern railway shops at Ludlow, Ky., and spread with great rapidity, owing to the lack of water and the fact that Ludlow has no steam fire department. The immense car and machine shops, covering two acres of ground, were totally destroyed, together with the machinery and a large number of cars and material.

The round house caught fire and it was at first thought to be doomed, but by the heroic efforts of the employes, the engines in it were removed and the building itself saved. Among the losses are: A Mann boudoir car, a pay car and private car, two Pullman cars, three coaches, seven flats loaded with coal and twenty-five new freight cars.

About 500 employes will be thrown out of employment. The buildings destroyed are the car shops, machine shops, blacksmith, boiler and tin shops, brass foundry, repair shop, oil house, lumber shed, sand house, two water tanks, coal bins and the railroad supply store. The latter contained $40,000 worth of goods. All of these buildings were of wood.

Only a street separated the village dwellings and the business houses from the flames, but the wind was favorable and the efforts of cititens with buckets, aided by the little hand engine of the town, kept the fire from burning the whole village. The burned property is said to be fully insured. The loss is variously estimated from $100,000 to $250,000.

The Verdict of Lingg.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The suicide of Louis Lingg, the handsome young anarchist, was investigated by the coroner's jury. Jailer Folz testified that Lingg killed himself with a small bomb, and exhibited a half-dozen twisted and blood-stained pieces of gas pipe which were found in Lingg's cell after the explosion. How Lingg obtained the bomb the jailer could not say. It was supposed he had it concealed in his thick hair. Other jail officials testified to the same effect and the jury found a verdict of "death from shock, hemorrhage and fatty embolism of the lungs, caused by the explosion of a bomb about two inches long and half an inch in diameter and filled with dynamite, said bomb being exploded by his own hand with suicidal intent on Nov. 10, A. D. 1887."

Printers Arrested for a Test Case.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—John L. Bancroft and Beth Van Allen, two striking printers, who, it is said, have been active in inducing "rat" printers to leave the employ of Poole Bros., 308 Dearborn street, were arrested on complaint of that firm, charged with conspiracy, resulting in the injury of their business. The men were placed under $1,000 bonds to appear next Tuesday for trial. It will be made a test case. The law bearing upon this and all similar cases was passed at the last session of the state legislature and has been the topic for denunciation by every trades union in Illinois.

The Anarchists' Organ.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—To-day the Alarm, of which Parsons, the anarchist, was editor, was issued for the first time since the execution. The leading article, written by Dyer D. Lum, the successor of Parsons, says: "The former editor of the Alarm has been strangled to death by the state. The seal of legal disapproval has been placed upon free speech. Henceforth workingmen and women must keep silent or only clamor for relief through the lines laid down for them."

Decided to Quit.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 18.—The Bessemer rail manufacturers, twelve in number, have decided to order a general suspension of work. The time has not been fixed, but it is expected to occur on the 1st of December. The cause is the unsatisfactory condition of the rail market. The suspension will throw an immense number out of employment in the mills of the coke regions.

Mrs. Engle Has an Offer From a Dime Museum Man.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Engle, widow of one of the anarchists, has received a letter from George Robinson, a dime museum man, offering her $10,000 in cash for the loan of Louis Lingg's remains for one year for the purpose of exhibiting it in the various cities of the United States. The offer was declined.

Struck for Higher Wages.

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 18.—The Southern Pacific yardmen here struck yesterday, for an increase in wages, and the company has declared their places vacant. No attempt was made by the strikers to prevent them from making use of the trains.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

Captain Mills, of Detroit, Kills His Manager's Wife and Then Commits Suicide.

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—Captain A. H. Mills, an old citizen, a prominent vessel man and owner of a line of harbor tugs in this city, shot and killed Mrs. Austin Rising, the wife of his manager, at her residence on Congress street, about 9 o'clock last night. Mills then went to his home, on Jefferson avenue, locked himself in his room and shot himself through the head, death resulting almost instantly. Captain Mills, who was a widower, is said to have been infatuated with the woman and, becoming involved in financial difficulties, choose the above desparate way of ending his troubles.

LATER.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 18.—The supposed suicide of Captain A. H. Mills, the well-known vessel man, last night, preceded by his alleged murder of Mrs. Austin Rising, the wife of the manager of the captain's own tug line, has more to it, apparently, than was at first supposed. Rising, the husband of the dead woman, is under arrest and it is by no means a certainty that Captain Mills was not murdered, and that he is besides innocent of the death of Mrs. Rising.

No Temperance Committe for the Bishop

DANVILLE, Va., Nov. 18.—The 105th session of the Methodist conference (south) began here yesterday, Bishop Key, of Georgia, presiding. When a motion was made to appoint a committee on temperance, the bishop said: "No, sir; we do not appoint committees on temperance; we have passed temperance down in my country, and now we call it prohibition." A committee on prohibition was appointed.

Devoured by Wolves.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 18.—It is reported that two children while returning from school near High Prairie, Rice county, last Friday, were attacked by wolves and before assistance could reach them they were devoured. A few days before a man was pursued and attacked by wolves in the same vicinity and it was only after a long fight that he escaped with his life.

Henry George for President.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 18.—A Henry George, or United Labor party, was organized here for this state. The Syracuse platform was adopted. No nominations were made, the convention being to effect a working organization only. All the delegates present favor Henry George for president and Judge James G. McGuire, of San Francisco, for vice president.

SEEKS $10,000.

Abraham Weil Sues P. A. Randall for Damaging His Character.

This afternoon Abraham Weil filed a suit to recover $10,000 from Perry A. Randall. The reasons below are taken from the complaint:

"Weil, what insurance had you on your stock?" enquired Mr. Randall of Mr. Weil.

"We had $26,000 insurance on our stock, and will lose from $5,000 to $10,000," replied Mr. Weil.

Mr. Randall responded; "You can tell that story to your grandmother; you can't tell that story to me. I am satisfied you set the building on fire to obtain the insurance, and what I say I will prove in court."

For the words above, Mr. Weil says his name is damaged to the extent of $10,000. W. G. Colerick is his counsel.

In Self-Defense.

LEAPED INTO ETERNITY.

Col. John S. McCleary, a Prominent Bluffton Educator, Takes His Own Life.

Last evening, at Bluffton, Prof. John S. McCleary, known as the "blind professor," climbed to the second story of the court house and feeling his way along the corridors to a street window, he threw it open.

As if to test the distance and ascertain the chances of death, McCleary tossed his cane to the pavement below. After hearing the stick rebound, the old man climbed out on the window preparing to drop himself into eternity.

"Don't leap" shouted a half dozen people who witnessed the desperate man.

"I know what I am doing. Go to hell," came the response from McCleary, who instantly tossed himself to the merciless pavement. He fell headforemost, his skull was fractured, the bones of the body broken and his face mutilated

This was at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, but McCleary lingered between life and death until last evening.

Mr. McCleary was for years superintendent of the Bluffton schools. He was finely educated and was widely known, even in Fort Wayne. He was a brother of the late Dr. J. B. McCleary and lived at Bluffton for thirty years. He drank hard of late and used the dreadful means detailed to free himself from its relentless grip.

There is still another violent death to record over there. George Rich was at work in a mill at Uniondale, west of Bluffton. Yesterday he accidentally ran against a circular saw and was torn to bits by its teeth.

The Gazette had a very fair and sensible editorial on the water works situation this morning. Mr. Leonard, the writer, is a practical civil engineer and is especially capable in water works affairs. When he tells the people of Fort Wayne—coming here, as he does, a disinterested stranger—that the present water supply is insufficient and impure, it will carry great weight with it. Mr. Leonard calls on the trustees to get purer and better water for the citizens of Fort Wayne, rejoicing at the same time that there is plenty of it at hand.

The Water Famine.

The following dispatch comes by the Associated Press:

FORT WAYNE, Nov. 18.—Fort Wayne is about to experience a water famine because of the long draught. The water in the supply basin, as well as the small streams that contribute to it, is so low that enough pressure is given to the mains to operate the elevators in the hotels and other buildings and their use has been abandoned. The electric light engine cannot get enough water.

Ask the majority of well-dressed people, who is your tailor? Messrs. "Sam, Pete & Max" is the prompt and invariable reply.

THE BIG FAIR

Moving Along Nicely—Only Two More Nights.

Y. M. C. A. fair moves along without much noise and is fairly well patronized by our people. The attendance last night was large, though the cash receipts did not show up as well as the night previous. To-night, it is hoped, will be the big night. The attractions will be fine. Come, and show by your presence, that you are in sympathy with the cause of the Y. M. C. A.

This evening will be presented a musical program, in which the Haydn quartet, Mesdames McCulloch and Bond and other good musicians will participate.

The art booth will have many new attractions to-night.

The Japanese booth is running over with fine things for Christmas presents.

The "Humanophone" is one of the best attractions ever seen at a fair.

To-night will be presented the "Humanophone," and it will be a grand musical feature of the evening. At the suggestion of Mrs. McDonald, Professor Heath will manipulate the "Humanophone," which will produce excellent music from, live, breathing notes. Everyone will be delighted.

Don't fail to see the garment cutter at the Y. M. C. A. fair.

Leave your measures for a tailor cut pattern at the Y. M. C. A. fair.

The orchestra furnished by Mr. Reineke, discourse most excellent music.

Miss Mary Randall has started an extensive dry goods store, where she dispenses dry goods of all kinds, notions, ribbons and laces. She has engaged the Misses Grace Hayden, Edith Maier and Mrs. Randall as her efficient help, and they will make it successful.

The doll booth catches the hearts of all, and many delight to gaze, as it reminds of happy youthful days, when cares were less and delights unalloyed.

The fish pond has its devotees, and while the sport may be classed as aquatic, this proves a "dry land" pond, but you "get a bite every pop," and have lots of fun. Everybody should "go a-fishing."

The flower booth is doing a big business.

To-morrow afternoon is children's day and the admission will be only five cents. It is to be hoped that the children will turn out in full force.

Patronize the country store.

Come to the fair to-night.

There is no lottery of any kind at the fair.

Do not fail to secure a photograph of your preacher.

Home-made candy made every day at the candy booth.

Go and see the dolls. Auction to-night.

A Republican Ringed by His Democratic Friends.

Mr. C. A. Hogin was presented, by his friends in the Fort Wayne postoffice, with a fine ring, J. C. Williard acting as spokesman. Mr. Hogin has been on the Fort Wayne and Cincinnati railroad for more than five years and now resigns to look after his interest in the new glass works at Marion, Ind.

Democrats In Council.

The executive committee of the democratic state organization met at Indianapolis Wednesday. There was a consciousness of approaching victory on everybody's lips, and none expressed it better than Senator Bell and Supt. John Wilkinson, who represented the Twelfth district. The committee seeks the power to arbitrate and settle all local and congressional district disturbances so that nothing will prevail against success in 1888.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS
The cabinet organ was introduced in its present form by Mason & Hamlin in 1861. Other makers followed in the manufacture of these instruments, but the Mason & Hamlin Organs have always maintained their supremacy as the best in the world. Mason & Hamlin offer, as demonstration of the unequalled excellence of their organs, the fact that at all of the great World's Exhibitions, since that of Paris, 1867, in competition of the best makers of all countries, they have invariably taken the highest honors. Illustrated catalogues free.

PIANOS. Mason & Hamlin's Piano Stringer was introduced by them in 1882, and has been pronounced by experts the "greatest improvement in pianos in half a century."

A circular, containing testimonials from 100 purchasers, musicians and tuners, sent, together with descriptive catalogue, to any applicant.

JOAQUIN MILLER has had a vast amount of trouble in his domestic affairs. Not long ago his favorite daughter married an actor against her father's will, and now "Hal" Miller, a son of the famous poet, is in jail in Nevada City for horse-stealing. "Hal" is a young fellow not yet 18 years of age. He offers another illustration of the fact that his father's life has been one of verses and reverses.

FIFTEEN years ago Jacob Trackbach of New Portage, O., who was thought to be rich and was known to be miserly, died; but all efforts to find the money that he was supposed to have accumulated failed. The other day two woodchoppers cut down a tree near the miser's old home, and in a hole in the tree found gold, silver, and notes to the value of $10,000. They tried to keep it quiet, but their good fortune was too much for them. They had found Trackbach's money.

A ST. LOUIS cigar dealer says: "I had a good laugh to myself one day when I saw a second-hand dealer strike an old bedstead with his knuckles and say to the lady who was bargaining for it: 'Madam, that bedstead is solid poplar.' But the laugh is now on me. I bought a lot of cigar-boxes, all cedar, I thought. By accident I broke one of them the other day, and I found that they were made of ash, with a cedar veneering as thin as paper on the surface, inside and out. That is getting business down pretty fine, said I to myself."

CHESTER DAWES, son of the Massachusetts Senator, is one of the assistant counsels for the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, and has an office in Chicago. He was graduated from Yale in the class of '76. A few days ago he was looking out of his office window and caught sight of Creighton Webb, a college classmate. Dawes called to Webb to come up to his office. "I've got a friend with me," answered Webb. "Trot him up, old man," was the cordial answer. When the pair reached the office Dawes was somewhat astonished on being presented by Webb to "His Grace the Duke of Marlborough."

MR. P. T. BARNUM has decided that henceforth his circus shall have no clown. This is a revolutionary departure in the circus business. The circus-going public likes to laugh at the clown, and has come to look on him as the safe and reliable repository of ancient jokes which, but for the clown, would pass from human memory. What will the circus sawdust be without a grinning, whitewashed face, his merry songs, his reckless tumbling, and his humorous "chestnuts," repeated with as much cheerful confidence in their laughter-provoking qualities as if they had not been known to everybody before the flood? Mr. Barnum is making a great professional mistake.

THE American girl is cleverly pictured by Habberton in a novel: "She was the oldest child, so she had her own way; she was pretty, so she had always been petted; she was 20, so she knew everything that she thought worth knowing. She had long before reconstructed the world (in her own mind) just as it should be, from the standpoint that it ought to exist solely for her benefit. Not bad-tempered, on the contrary cheerful and full of high spirits, she was nevertheless in perpetual protest against everything that was not exactly as she would have it, and not all the manners that careful breeding could impart could restrain the unconscious insolence peculiar to young and self-satisfied natures."

GOV. BOB TAYLOR, of Tennessee, says that he is careful of champagne and applejack, and this is the why of the applejack: "When I was a boy one cold, frosty night we were out on a lark in the Tennessee mountains and drank abundance of applejack. The cold prevented its taking effect, but when I came into mother's warm room it floored me. I had sense enough not to talk, and groaned how sick I was, and knowing she would smell the brandy I said I had stopped by aunt's and got some brandy, but it had not helped my stomachache a bit. She then put me to bed and spread a great big mustard plaster on me, and I could not walk for three weeks. I have the marks of it on me yet."

THE estimate made in the report of consumption of timber by the railroads shows that 100,000,000 acres or one-fifth of our present forest area have been stripped for this purpose during the last fifty years and that the next fifty will very likely call for double that amount. A good deal of stress is laid, and justly, upon the great loss entailed by the absence of facilities, where much of the timber is taken, for utilizing the inferior grades of material and the leaving. Any one familiar with the history of lumbering in Michigan or Wisconsin can well understand this. When the business was first begun nothing was taken but the best, and what was left to decay or used in filling up marshes would have made many a lumber merchant rich ten years later.

JUDGE LAWRENSON, of Baltimore, last week celebrated the sixty-eighth anniversary of his connection with the Government. He will be 85 years of age next March. October 19, 1819, Judge Lawrenson received an appointment in the Baltimore postoffice, and in 1834 was transferred to the Post-office Department at Washington. He has been there ever since. He goes to Washington from Baltimore every morning and returns to the latter city in the evening. He has made this journey daily for more than fifty years.

POPE LEO XIII. derives his revenue from three sources. One is the interest of the vast sum left by Pius IX. in the Pontifical Treasury, invested chiefly in English consols. This interest amounts to about $625,000 a year. Another source is the Peter's pence contribution, which, in spite of the very great reduction in late years, averages about $415,000 annually. The third source is the Apostolic Chancery, the receipts of which include sums received for titles and decorations, privileges of the altar, private chapels, etc., and aggregate about $520,000 a year. The entire annual income of Leo XIII. therefore, is about $1,500,000.

AN exchange, speaking of Ben Butler's argument before the Supreme Court in behalf of the Anarchists, inquires whether a member of the legal profession has a right to use his skill for the purpose of preventing the punishment of persons known to be guilty of crime. This brings irresistibly to mind the discussion started in a hen-coop one dark night by two colored marauders. "Sambo," said one of them, "am it right for us to take dese chickens?" "Dat am a great moral question, Gabe," said the other. "we ain't got no time to 'scuss it. Hand down 'nudder pullet." Ben Butler never wastes any time in considering the moral aspect of a case when he is reaching for a retaining fee.

A LARGE clothing store at Vienna, Austria, has just introduced a new "department for small means." It is located in the underground, and contains second-hand goods. All those attending to fashion and appearance buy new clothes every season, their last season's wardrobe being very good yet. They return the latter at a comparatively low figure, and pay the difference between it and the price they are charged for their new, fashionable clothes. These returned goods of the preceding season go to the "small means" department and are sold at a little advance, enough to cover expenses. In that department workmen, clerks, and others are thus able to buy good clothes at very low figures.

A TOPEKA woman, Mrs. Mary Abarr, has taken a claim in Western Kansas and holds it. The "rustler" of that section has endeavored to annoy her and force her to abandon it, but she is an American girl, and thus talks to them in a notice stuck upon her house and in the local paper: "Further depredations in the way of poking and peering in at my windows after night, or carrying off my provisions or otherwise spooking around molesting me or mine, will result fatally to you. There is something about the house loaded and with further provocation will go off, and you will most likely hear and feel something drop. MARY ABARR, Pre-emptor. P. S.—If you can't read, or don't take the paper, you had better get your neighbor to read this notice to you, for I mean business."

GEN. GREEN B. RAUM, chairman of the Washington committee appointed to provide for the erection of a statue to Gen. Logan at the national capital, was called upon by Col. Alberto Malo of the Mexican army and informed that the American colony in Mexico, together with a number of Mexicans, had obtained and desired to present to the monument committee an onyx slab from the Mexican mines. The slab, which is two and one-half feet square, cost $1,000 in Mexico. It is now in New York and will be sent to Washington to the committee, which will request Mrs. Logan to be the custodian of it until the monument shall be completed. It is expected that the soldiers will contribute the fund for the monument, and Congress will undoubtedly furnish a suitable place to erect it upon some of the government reservations.

THE conspicuous presence in Irish politics of Sir Thomas Henry Grattan Esmonde, who is now visiting this country, may be attributed to an ugly accident which befell him a few years ago. He was a great lover of sport and seemed to think of nothing more serious than dogs and guns and horses. One day, while hunting in Tipperary, he was accidentally shot in the right knee by one of his companions. This enforced his retirement from the field for some months and he devoted that time largely to reading Irish history and works on social and political economy. The result was that the "rebel" blood his ancestors waged warfare against Elizabeth, James I., and Cromwell became aroused and he emerged from his sick room an earnest, ardent, and advanced home-rule politician. His mother, it may be recalled, was a grand-daughter of the famous Irish statesman, Grattan.

THERE is a chain of prairie-dog towns along the Texas and Pacific road beginning west of Abilene and extending nearly to Big Springs. The little fellows always climb upon their hills and squat on their hind feet to watch the train go by. Hunters say it is almost impossible to kill one of the dogs and get his body, so quickly does he dive into his hole at the explosion of a gun. Frequently, if fatally hit, the little burrower falls dead into his earth domicile. Men have tried to make them come out of their burrows by pouring great quantities of water in at the mouth of the hole, but they will not emerge even at that treatment. Some of the villages cover five acres of ground and their territory extends for 100 miles along the railroad track.

Our College Presidents.

An eminent writer, showing what an excellent thing is a college education, cites the fact that there have been seventeen Presidents of the United States, and eleven of the seventeen were college men. Well, that's so. But let's weigh these Presidents on the finer scales, as long as we're going into statistics. Who were the Presidents who never went to college at all, and precious little to any school? Washington, Jackson, Lincoln—oh, well; the college may have the other fourteen; its hardly worth while counting any farther.—Bob Burdette.

HOW TO DO IT.

He who scorches his finger knows, or ought to know, that by holding it near fire or flame the greater heat of the latter, acting by attraction, draws out the minor heat in the finger and the pain ceases. This is, however, cruel treatment, and is only referred to in explanation of a principle. No one would be so foolish as to expose a large burn to such a process, as the result would be pain intolerable. It is said that a burn or scald in extent the size of one-third the surface of the human body is incurable, for the reason that the vital forces exhaust themselves in trying to rebuild or renew what has been destroyed by the burn. Nature hates any disturbance to the harmony of its action, and in its struggle to overcome such an injury, overpowers itself. The excessive heat, inhaled or absorbed, weakens the vitals and nature has not sufficient strength to go into battle. These are important things to know, for it is only on true principles that nature is helped in its struggle, and only through ignorance that suffering is intensified or proves fatal where it could be relieved.

Scores of people daily brought in contact with heat, steam, boiling water and combustibles are hourly injured by some mishap in the nature of a burn or scald, and thousands have been cured of such by the best known remedy for the cure of pain. The principle of how it works explains itself after what has been said. It acts as a counter-irritant on the surface injured, gently drawing out the heat caused by the burn, while it soothes the pain, helping nature in the healing process, and a cure follows. It is a specific for pains of this kind and should be kept handy where fire and steam are used.

But as a precaution to its use where serious burns or scalds occur, and that suffering may not be intensified through ignorance, read carefully directions for its use accompanying every bottle. Thousands who testify to being cured of burns and scalds have been so guided, and praise without stint the virtues of St. Jacobs Oil by which they have been cured.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub wakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an official form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Price $1. Sold by all Druggists. Prepared by J. H. ZEILIN & Co., Philadelphia, Pa

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headache, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influences. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

NEW HAVEN NEWS.

C. A. Zollinger, state pension agent, of Indianapolis, was in town Wednesday.

Mrs. Dennis Keefe has been very sick with lung fever the past few days.

Frederick Schneckman and Theresa Landin were married Tuesday morning at the Catholic church.

Miss Callie Powers and Ines Dougal, of Fort Wayne, who were the guests of Miss Maggie Powers, returned home Sunday evening.

Who is the young dude that took two of our young ladies to Fort Wayne, Tuesday, and got left, the ladies driving the horse home, and he was obliged to return on a train.

Mr. and Mrs. George Corlen, of Huntington, Ind., who were the guests of L. M. Rogers, returned home Tuesday.

Adolph Foelleringer, who has been hunting in southern Missouri, returned home Monday morning. Adolph is a good shot and brought in two deer.

Some thief stole Jos. Stutz's buggy harness about two weeks ago and after considerable searching they were found at Shuman's second-hand store at Fort Wayne, Tuesday, where Mr. Stutz took possession of his harness.

Sunday last H. F. Schnelker, J. J. Lee, Henry Blaising, F. A. Bueter, L. Kleinriehert and H. H. Schnelker, with their wives, were taken by H. F. Schnelker to his farm, about eleven miles east. H. F. made it pleasant as he could for the party.

We should think for the sake of not giving it away, our trustee from the Second ward would learn "Tacco" to stay at home and not sit outside and give his master away, who is in getting a morning eye opener.

John Bickel and Justin Ray, two of New Haven's crack shots, visited the big woods east of New Haven Sunday and finished their hunt Monday morning. When returning home their horse became unmanageable and ran away, breaking the buggy, but both escaped uninjured. John brought in a few squirrels and one of our tame geese. Ray crippled a goose and also succeeded in running it in. They agree better game can be had nearer home and at a less cost.

NOW AND THEN.

An errand boy in a Philadelphia fancy store has just been left $500,000, but it is thought he will die early of consumption. There is nothing better for young children that are daily exposed than a spoonful or two of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The Dangers of Foot-Ball.

The game is as safe as any outdoor game can well be, provided it is played with the careful preparation and training which are the rule in the larger colleges; it is a dangerous and unfit game when men undertake to play it without such preparation and training. In the season of last year, two fatal accidents were reported; both occurred in colleges which were attempting to play the game as it is played by the leading teams, without any of the preparation which they find an essential. The writer, who has been in the habit of attending the regular games of the college, with which he is connected, has felt under obligations to be equally consistent in attending the daily practice games of the men, in order to watch the preliminary training; and he must confess to a great respect for the good sense and good management of the under-graduates who have the matter in charge. 'The University team' is selected provisionally; it is pitted daily against a second, or 'scrub,' team of somewhat larger numbers; both teams are kept under careful training and supervision; the playing is made short and as gentle as possible at first, until the men begin to become 'hard;' the playing is then gradually lengthened and made more severe, as the men become able to endure it; and, by the time the season comes to its last game, the players are able to endure with impunity treatment which would be dangerous to men who are 'soft,' or out of condition. After the first few weeks are over, and serious playing has begun, men who have not yet played are not encouraged, or, in extreme cases, even allowed, to play on the 'scrub' team; the managers think it inadvisable to run any risks. The players are not only brought to a point of physical condition which makes it a pleasure to watch them; they are taught how to fall, when a fall is inevitable, in such a way as to retain control of the ball without hazarding a broken bone or a dislocation. When the closing games come on, the player can take what seems to the spectator a frightful fall, not only without a bruise, but so skillfully that it is regularly necessary for his opponent to 'hold him down' lest he rebound and take to his heels again. The preliminary practice games can hardly be more severe elsewhere than at Princeton; and yet the writer has never seen a serious accident occur there. An accident may occur, of course, and will give no warning of its coming, but its coming has been put as far as possible out of the range of probability. But if men in other colleges wished to play foot-ball, as should be the case, they must not ignore the systematic course of preparation, take the final playing of a well-trained team as a model, and attempt to imitate it. It is from such folly that the recurring accidents in foot-ball come. With good physical condition in the players, the requisite training, and suitable grounds, the game is not only one of the best of outdoor sports, but one of the safest."—The Century.

A MAN may be able to paint a town red from end to end, and yet possess none of the cardinal virtues.—Burlington Free Press.

For cleansing and healing foul and indolent Ulcers, Sores and Abscesses and removing the bad odors arising therefrom, and for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds, Darby Prophylactic Fluid is unequalled.

"I have used Darbys Prophylactic Fluid in hospital and private practice for ten years and know of nothing better for sloughing, contused and lacerated wounds foul and indolent ulcers and as a disinfectant."—John F. Hendrix, Professor Mobile Med. college.

A LITTLE BOY came to his mother recently and said, "Mamma, I should think that if I was made of dust, I would get muddy inside when I drink."

A VALIANT FIGHT.

How Rochester, N. Y., Wrestled With the Telephone and Won!

Rochester, N. Y., is the only city in the United States which does not generally use the Bell telephone!

On the 20th of November, 1886, about seven hundred subscribers hung up their 'phones, and they have been hung up since!

It is the most noteworthy fight with a corporation ever know.

The cause of it was the attempt of the local Bell company (whose officers all lived in another city) to exact a rate per message from the subscribers, instead of a "flat rate." The people resisted it, the courts sustained the position that the license was revokable at will, the Common Council revoked it. The company ignored this action, and, without permission, erected poles in the streets and strung additional wires; but the courts held that this was unlawful.

According to the message rate, a house like H. H. Warner & Co., proprietors of Warner's safe cure, who were among the heaviest patrons, would have to pay something like $1,000 a year for the same telephone service as before.

For a city of 125,000 people Rochester has made a good many sensations. Sam Patch and his deadly leap, the Fox sisters' spiritual rappings, Seward's "Irrepressible conflict" speech, Susan B. Anthony's attempt to vote, the cometary discoveries of Dr. Swift, of Warner observatory, have each made the city the "talk of the world;" she leads in the manufacture of proprietary medicine, and her immense nursery, shoe and clothing interests puts her in the front rank.

The origin of one of her greatest industries is interesting: About ten years ago one of her foremost citizens was stricken down in the very height of a successful business, with what his doctors said was an incurable disease. They gave him up to die. He then used what is now known as Warner's safe cure, and since then has developed as the world's great champion of the people against the assumed monopoly of physicians over the treatment of disease!

His fight, too, has been a determined one, and as successful as determined. To-day he is the head of the largest proprietary medicine business in the world, having branch houses and laboratories in London, England; Toronto, Canada; Melbourne, Victoria; Sydney, New South Wales; Frankfort, Germany; Prague, Austria; Ragoon, Burmah.

Many foreign governments will not permit the manufacture and sale of proprietary medicines of any name or nature until their formulæ, value and harmlessness are by them established, after the most searching scientific inquiries. In every case Warner's safe cure has passed examination with the highest satisfaction to the government chemists and analysts, and the sought-for permission has been granted, which no other American has before secured.

This confirms the magnificent reputation given it by leading physicians, ministers, senators, congressmen, lawyers and ladies of the world. "Its secret of success," says the leading physician at Clifton Springs, N. Y., sanitarium, "is the simplicity of its compounds and the proportions in which they are compounded."

"How do the people get on?"

The universal verdict is: "We don't miss the 'phone, except to our profit!"

There has been practically no break in the united opposition begun last November.

The American is getting to be quite as tenacious of his personal rights as against conspiring monopolies as is the typical Englishman, and this Rochester telephone episode is a noteworthy illustration of the fact.

Six Quarts at a Draught.

Drinking is a sea custom not yet dead—at least if it is dead, the fault is not Jack's, says a writer in the London Telegraph. But, even though the economical principles of owners had suffered perpetuation of the practice on shipboard, I question whether the most bibulous of the present race of sailors could carry it to the height to which it was formerly raised. I suppose the very biggest drink on record is that related by Dampier. He relates that there came on board his ship one Capt. Rawlins, the commander of a small New England vessel, along with a Mr. John Hooker. They were asked into the cabin to drink, and a bowl was made containing six quarts. "Mr. Hooker being drunk to by Capt. Rawlins, who pledged Capt. Hudswell, and, having the bowl in his hand, said that he was under an oath to drink but three draughts of strong liquor a day, and putting the bowl to his head turned it off at one draught, and so making himself drunk, disappointed us of our expectations until we had made another bowl."

Twelve pints to a swallow, without a sigh between! But then hard drinking was the custom, not on the privateers only, but of the whole seafaring race of early times. They were educated to it by liberal doses of grog. The allowance sometimes rose to a pint of rum per man a day. In the French, Spanish, and Portuguese ships, and very often in the Dutch, sailors' courage before an action was nearly invariably helped by jacks of brandy, and the doses were repeated while the fight proceeded, a bumper being handed between the guns. The men, frenzied by drink, would mix gunpowder with the spirits, supposing that, thus prepared, there was no better liquor for heroes. I think it need not be doubted that more actions were lost than gained by this custom. How should a drunken gunner aim his piece? and what mischief (save to one another) could a mob of inebriated small-arms men do in the tops or along the quarter deck? But if privateersmen could be found able to swallow six quarts at a draught, they had customs besides that of drinking which must have tended to make them desperately hardy-seasoned men. It was their practice to keep their ships clear, so that the deck was the only bed they had to lie upon. No hammocks were allowed, no chairs or tables; they took their meals upon the deck and lay upon it; preserving, in this direction, the old tradition of the buccaneers, who denied themselves every imaginable comfort and convenience that they might never be mistaken for anything else than the savage beasts they were.

An Execution in Korea.

Writing of Korea a correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle says: The manner of killing criminals is peculiar and is especially obnoxious to the Catholic Christians, who are abundant in this country. An orderly Roman cross is set up on a huge cart drawn by oxen. The man is tied to this with arms extended, and he is thus drawn through the streets. A crier precedes the procession, announcing the crime for which the man is being punished. His friends are allowed to follow and protest his innocence and bewail his sad fate, but as the punishment is usually visited upon the family if the treason has been glaring the following of friends is apt to be rather small.

There are two places of execution at the capital. One, seldom used, is in the city, while the chief places is just outside the west gate on a hillside, where the immense crowds upon the city wall and other high places can get a good view of the interesting sight. Whether the prisoner in his exhausted state, has succumbed to the torture on the cross or not, on arriving at the place of execution he is placed face downward, with his neck upon a block, when, by one stroke, if it is a good one, the heavy sword severs the head from the body. The hands and feet are then cut off, and the mutilated body is carried back into the city and laid, chest downward, in one of the streets, where it must lay for three days.

It is refreshing to note that the people, and even the dogs, avoid that street for the time being, and the adjoining shops are closed. They count from the evening when the body is laid out till daylight of the third day, so that the body only lies there one day in reality. The foreigners resident in the capital during the time following the emeute of 1884, when so many political criminals were executed, often stumbled upon these horrible sights in their journeyings about the streets. On one occasion when the bodies were near the legations the representatives combined and asked for their removal.

It should be mentioned that the humane king is opposed to this practice, which custom seems still to demand. In case the accuser should be proved an impostor and to have accused the man falsely, the prisoner or his friends have the right to demand an eye from him. Their method of obtaining the organ is quite novel, and if well performed it is more expeditious than is the modern surgical method of enucleation. The culprit is made to stoop over and is then hit with the loaded end of a flexible stick upon a spot on the back of the head, when the eye protrudes sufficiently so that it may be cut off. If, however, the people who wish the eye are not prompt in doing the cutting operation the prisoner may quickly replace the eye and possess it thereafter in peace, all of which is said to have been done many times, but unfortunately has not been witnessed, as yet, by foreigners.

FRIDAY, NOV. 18, 1887.

THE CITY NEWS.

Kellar at the Temple to-night.

Mr. W. S. Morris is at Danville, Ill.

Mr. J. H. Bass returned from Chicago this morning.

Mrs. W. C. Kocher, of Huntington, is visiting in the city.

Col. C. A. Zollinger went to Indianapolis yesterday afternoon.

Judge Robert Lowry is engaged in legal business at Columbia City.

Judge L. M. Ninde has been retained in a damage suit at Rome City.

H. W. Beard has purchased the Columbia street flour mill from Andy Kalbacher.

The Wilson & Rankin minstrels left early this morning for Davenport, Iowa, where they play to-night.

The Muncie Times says: "D. E. Heaton, a prominent business man of Fort Wayne, was here to-day."

Wabash has organized a board of trade, with A. M. Atkinson, president, and Warren Bigler, secretary.

The wonderful Kellar, whose feats of magic have startled the world, will open a two nights' engagement at the Temple to-night.

At the Scottish Rite convocation, at Indianapolis, Hon. R. C. Bell responded in his elegant style to the toast: "Fort Wayne Lodge of Perfection, V. D."

Mr. Platt J. Wise, of this city, was chosen a director of the grand lodge of Odd Fellows, at Indianapolis. Mr. Wise is one of the prominent Odd Fellows of the state and is titled past grand master.

The minstrel performance by the Wilson & Rankin company is not well spoken of by people who witnessed it. They have a few clever musicians, but outside of that the show is slow. The writer did not see it.

All members of the Wayne Building, Loan and Savings association are requested to meet at the Custer house this evening to pay their first installment of dues. Those not paying this evening will not be considered members.

The Jackson Guards will form a stock company, with $15,000 capital, to build a new armory. The financiers of the company figure out that $2 300 per year in rents will be realized from the part of the building not occupied for armory purposes. This is a pointer for the Fort Wayne Rifles.

In detailing the proceedings of the National Baptist convention, the Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Rev. S. A. Northrup, a rising young exponent of the gospel, from Fort Wayne, was the only voluntary speaker on these papers, and he made a most earnest appeal for more practical methods in theological instructions."

Four suits have been filed in the federal court against certain merchants of Elkhart, this state, by the Lamson Cash Railway company, alleging infringement of patent in the use of the cash and parcel store service apparatus, patented by the plaintiffs. This suit involves what is known as the Osgood and Barr patents, hundreds of which are now in use throughout the state.

A member of THE SENTINEL staff saw Booth, Barrett and their equally celebrated company in "Julius Cæsar" at Wheeler's opera house, Toledo, last night. The prices of admission ranged from $1 to $3 and almost every seat was sold. The writer believes that the company would pay their guarantee at Fort Wayne, because not in a life time are two such men to again be seen essaying Shakespeare's plays. They have been engaged for three performances at Indianapolis. An attempt might be made to test the public pulse in Fort Wayne at prices to cover a $2,700 guarantee.

Mr. Geo. E. Small, formerly of Marion township, and now residing in Archer's addition, on St. Mary's avenue, held ticket 4,163, and was presented by Messrs. Sam, Pete and Max, the people's clothiers, with the valuable city lot, corner Spring street and St. Mary's avenue.

Mr. John Lillie went to Wabash yesterday.

Judge Taylor left for Boston, Mass., last night.

Dan O'Brien went to jail this morning for drunkenness.

Mr. Henry Clay Parker is a guest of the Aveline house.

The dust was blinding to-day. The streets ought to be sprinkled.

Deputy Sheriff Platt J. Wise returned last evening from Indianapolis.

The Zollinger Gatling gun squad will meet on Saturday evening to elect a captain.

Mrs. H. F. Leopold, of Duluth, Minn., is the guest of her brother, Mr. Max Nirdlinger.

Bayless Holmes left last evening for Scranton, Miss., and his family will follow next week.

The Wayne Building and Loan association will be organized at the Custer house to-night.

Kellar, the clever magician, will entertain the Temple patrons to night in his inimitable way.

Judge R. S. Taylor left last night for Boston in the interest of the Fort Wayne Jenney Electric Light company.

The Morton club gave one of its delightful receptions last evening. The club will give a reception and musicale every two weeks.

Frank Wilt's horse was discovered browsing on the commons south of the city. There was no reason at all to suppose it was stolen.

Vicar General J. H. Brammer is expected home from New York city this evening. The beloved priest went east to consult a physician.

John McKinzie, superintendent of motive power on the New York, Chicago and St. Louis road, arrived in the city from Chicago, yesterday.

Mrs. Fred Meyers, of Archer's addition, died at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Funeral on Saturday at 2 p. m. from St. John's Lutheran church.

Hon. Bruce Carr and Henry Thornton, of Indianapolis, will visit our city on Saturday next in the interest of the Commercial Travelers' association of Indiana.

Robert Bonner has retired from the management of the New York Ledger. His three sons will carry on the business. Mr. Bonner has been a printer for forty-eight years.

The Christian church ministers of northern Indiana met yesterday and secured the services of Rev. B. C. Black to labor as evangelist in the counties of Allen, Whitley, Adams and Wells.

Mr. James Fields, the book keeper for Boltz & Derheimer, went to Aboit this morning to look at some lumber. He took his gun and dog with him and will do some hunting of game while he is gone.

The Huntington Herald says: "Conductor Hayes has suffered a relapse and is again seriously sick. He is at the residence of his father-in-law, Conductor Gates, of the Pittsburg road, at Fort Wayne."

C. A. Hogan, a popular mail clerk on the Muncie road, resigned his position to-day, to retire to his home at Marion, Ind. The postoffice boys sent for Mr. Hogan, this morning, and slipped on his finger a gold ring as a token of their esteem.

Kiraly's "Dolores" is having a great run at Indianapolis. The only bad feature about this, and in fact all French plays, is that they license virtue and condone vice, a sentiment that prevailed during the reign of the greatest French dramatists.

Mr. W. R. Durfee is arranging a big shooting match for Thanksgiving day at the White range. In the morning there will be a contest between Messrs. Wheal, Hunsaker, Watson and Durfee and in the afternoon a free-for-all-match.

The Graffe minstrels, at Library hall, next Monday and Tuesday nights, will make a special effort on the military specialties. A special invitation is hereby extended to the G. A. R. to attend these performances. Tickets can be had of any of the members.

District Woman Suffrage convention will be held as follows: Wabash, Nov. 18 and 19; Terre Haute, Nov. 22 and 23; South Bend, Nov. 24 and 25; Fort Wayne, Nov. 25 and 26; Muncie, Nov. 28 and 29; Anderson, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1; Madison, Dec. 2 and 3; New Albany, Dec. 5 and 6.

It is not generally known that Miss Jarbeau, who will star in "Starlight," at the Temple, Tuesday evening next, is an American girl and a native of New York city. She has been singing in light opera for several years. She has been west several times as a member of the "Evangeline" company, the Duff opera company and the "Confusion" party. She took a leading part for some time in Henry Dixey's "Adonis" company, while it experienced its successful run at Bob Miles' Bijou theatre, in New York. She has never starred before, but in "Starlight," surrounded by a number of bright people, she has scored one of the successes of the season. She is not only a very clever artist, but she is a very agreeable little lady off the stage.

If you can spare a few minutes, it will interest you to see a direct consignment from Tokio, Japan, to Messrs. Sam, Pete & Max, of gross grain silk, plain and embroidered smoking jackets. They are beauties.

Fred O. Boyd, general agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, is in the city visiting friends.

J. M. Dickson and C. F. Somers, the popular engineers on the Pittsburg, have sold their cigar and news stand.

N. N. Brock, the manager of "Thrown Upon the World," which appears at the Academy three nights next week, is at the Robinson.

The big dredge in Little River will cross the Wabash track Sunday, and Mr. T. E. Ellison will invite a party out to witness the feat in engineering.

Charles E. Brinsley and Hattie E. Philabaum, E. H. Filler and Marietta Davis, Wm. F. Muhn and Emma M. Frederick have been licensed to wed.

The directors of the Business Men's exchange met last night and talked over the affairs of the association. Dues will be assessed against the membership after October 1.

Dennis Gorman is recovering from his severe illness very slowly. It is expected, however, that he will resume his place in the county auditor's office in a few weeks.

Mrs. Woods, who keeps a boarding house on Superior street, filed an affidavit in Justice France's court against the Jenney Electric company, charging them with burning crude oil to the great annoyance of residents near the works.

Henry Schreck has run his race at last. In the mayor's court, this morning, he had a hearing on the charge of stealing $4 90 from Jacob Hizer. He was convicted, and Mayor Muhler bound him over for trial in the sum of $500. Schreck is in jail.

The boys in the manufacturing establishments of the city are now beginning to enquire whether they will be able to have a holiday on Thanksgiving day or not. Work is urgent in many of the establishments and some of them, at least, will not shut down.

Susan E. Irvin has sold to Chas. H. L. Mayer, lot 86, Beck's second addition, for $1,200; Hamilton bank to Wm. Siebert, lot 8, Rockhill's addition, for $1,500; Mary A. Whery to Georgiana McCullough, lot 210, Hanna's addition, for $2,100; Georgiana McCullough to Benjamin Saunders, lot 5, White's addition, for $1,200.

COFFEES!

All the standard brands at 26c.

OYSTERS!

Yum! Yum! That's where we're at home. "C. S. Maltby's"—don't forget it. MALTBY'S, MALTBY'S, nothing but Maltby's, the "Standard," the only, always reliable Maltby's; fresh every day; 1 can or 1,000 cans; all orders filled promptly.

CELERY!

The finest on earth. Fresh daily, in any quantity.

POULTRY!

That makes us think of Thanksgiving. Leave your orders now for Thanksgiving turkeys, chickens, geese or game. We've been accustomed to supply 500 turkeys every Thanksgiving day for years past. This time we are laying our wires for an even 1,000. Come get them, or leave your order now, for just the size and age of turkey you want; we'll fill the order.

But Say! If you don't want anything come and gaze at our display of canned goods, just for luck.

By the way; Gumper has just kind of made up his mind to shake things up—guess you all remember that he can when he feels so—well he feels THAT WAY NOW.

Going to take the "pinnin" right out from under the prices of everything, and make our Old Motto ring like blazes: "The Best of Everything, Lower Than Anywhere."
